Changing Lives through Dental Health

CADF Annual Report
July 2013-June 2014

The Capital Area Dental Foundation is helping fill a critical gap in our community's safety net. We are proud to partner with and support an organization that is so clearly committed to expanding access to oral health care.

- Earl Maxwell
President and CEO
St. David's Foundation

As the chairman of the Capital Area Dental Foundation (CADF), I am proud to report how far we have come as an organization. We have a professional staff and a diverse board of directors. Our five dental programs combine to serve more than 800 people a year. We are engaging the next generation of younger dentists and attracting new volunteer dentists for our programs. Our funding is stable, thanks to supporters like you who participate in our yearly fundraising gala and our new annual giving program, the Sustainer's Circle.

And this past year, CADF was recognized with the Nonprofit of the Year Award in the medium category by Greenlights for Nonprofit Excellence. We share this tremendous honor with our donors, board members, volunteer dentists and partners, especially the Capital Area Dental Society and the St. David's Foundation.

As a dentist engaged in charitable dentistry, I know how much our care can change lives: replacing pain with relief, disease with wellness and shame with confidence.

Thank you for all you do for the community that we all love.

Alan B. Moore, DDS

Filling a Need:

Poor oral health not only leads to pain and infection, but it can make it difficult for people to eat, speak and work. For adults and seniors, poor oral health is associated with chronic medical conditions like diabetes, heart and pulmonary disease and life-threatening ones like oral cancer and stroke.

Thousands of Central Texans are suffering with these issues everyday. Most patient's only option is to go to the emergency room for antibiotics or pain medications. The Capital Area Dental Foundation was started to end this cycle and heal those who do not have another avenue for long-term comfort and health.

Together We are Changing Lives

Juliet dreams of one day becoming a licensed certified chemical dependency counselor. When it became clear that her teeth were a barrier to employment, Juliet's Goodwill caseworker referred her to CADF. Juliet was connected to Dr. Trisha Kimes, who removed 16 of Juliet's teeth and gave her partial upper and lower dentures—all at no cost. "I had no dental coverage, but was in a lot of pain and had big holes in some of my teeth. Sometimes it hurt to eat since my gums would get really swollen," explained Juliet. "Now I have no pain and am no longer ashamed of my appearance. I feel confident and like I am complete. Given the chance I know I can be a great employee."

Juliet Fiscus, CADF-Goodwill Central Texas Patient

"When I met Dr. Kelp, I only had two teeth. I never laughed and hardly spoke," said Manuela Alcantar. "I was so ashamed by my appearance that I rarely left the house." Manuela and her husband Jose were nominated by Meals on Wheels for the Season for Caring program after losing their home in the Onion Creek floods. Both needed serious dental work that was donated by Dr. Kavin Kelp, a volunteer dentist with CADF. "Dr. Kelp did miracles with my teeth," said Jose, who is diabetic and has suffered multiple strokes. "Before all of this work, I could only eat soup or jello. Now I am ready for a steak!" "I don't know how we can thank Dr. Kelp and CADF," said Manuela. "They have done so much for us and have truly changed our lives."

Juan and Manuela Alcantar, CADF-Season for Caring Patients

"Music is my calling," says Jayme Iverson, an Austin musician and HAAM member. Like many Austin musicians, Jayme works several different jobs to support himself and his family. He has little disposable income leftover to pay for his dental care. Several of Jayme's teeth were knocked out by a sledgehammer while he was working on a community service project. He avoided smiling and hid his broken teeth while performing. That all changed when Jayme was referred to CADF dentist, Dr. Jessica Heggen. "The quality of care I received is something I never experienced before." Today, Jayme can smile again with all of his teeth repaired. "A huge part of the journey as a musician is to be yourself. Dr. Heggen made me feel whole again. That's priceless."

Jayme Iverson, CADF-Health Alliance for Austin Musicians (HAAM) Patient

Thank you!

YOU are the reason the Capital area is smiling.

We Need YOU!

Mission

For many of us, a trip to the dentist is something we do without giving it a second thought. But for thousands of our neighbors suffering with dental disease, it is a dream, one that is proudly filled by CADF thanks to the support of donors, partners and volunteers like you. Join us in our mission to transform lives through oral health!

Volunteer

Dentists are needed to treat carefully screened patients. All care is provided in your office and on your schedule. Patient needs range from basic preventive care to more complex cases.

We love our volunteers!

To see our list of providers that participate or to learn about our programs, visit our website.

Donate

We rely on donors like you to maintain and expand our dental programs. In addition to hosting an annual fundraising gala, CADF has launched an annual giving program called the Sustainer's Circle and has established an endowment to continue our charitable programs. Make a gift today and change a life forever!
